The Questioner.

BY ROBERT NICOL. I ask not for his lineage,

I ask not for his name; If manliness be in his heart,

He noble birth may claim. I care not though of this world's wealth, But slender be his part,

If "yes" you answer, when I ask-

Hath he a true man's heart. I ask not from what land he came. Nor where his youth was nursed;

If pure the stream, it matters not The spot from whence it burst.

The palace or the hovel, Where first his life began, I seek not of; but answer this-

Is he an honest man? Nay, blush not now-what matters it, Where first he drew his breath?

A manger was the cradle-bed. Of Him of Nazareth. Be nought, be any, every thing,

I care not what you be. If "yes" you answer, when I ask-Art thou pure, true and free?

Mr. Macaulay. The only actual plebian in the Cabinet-the only one brought in by the aristocracy of Mind, and not by blood or connexion, is Thomas Babington Macaulay. He is Paymaster-General of the Forces, and Treasurer of the Navy-receiving only the salary of the first office, £2000 a year. Macaulay distin- January: guished himself at the University, became a popular writer in the Edinburgh Review, and was brought into parliament (by Lord Lansdown) for the pocket-borough of Calne, in 1830. The whigs came into office, February: and Macaulay was made a Commissioner, and then Secretary of the Board of Control. In 1832 he was returned for Leeds. He was then sent out as Fifth Member of, and legal adviser to, the Supreme Council in India. His five years' service expired in 1838, and he returned home. The electors in Edinburgh, who then rather piqued themselves on their liberal April: principles and admiration of brilliant genius, eagerly seized the opportunity of sending Macauly to Parliament as their representative. In July, 1846, they reelected him, when the present Administration was May: formed.

o'clock, P. M. The Armamaxa. Or Imperial Persian Chariot, drawn by 30 horses; driven in hand by W. T. WILDEY, the celebrated Lion Whip. This gorgeous Chariot, from the manufactory of J. Stephenson & Co., 27th st., New York, has just been complete !. For its graceful proportions, exquisite workmanship, and brilliant embla zonry, it has never been equalled either in accient or modern times. It is said to be fashioned after the model of the Imperial Chariots of Persia, during the reign of Cyrus the Great. The sides of the Chariot are divided bato six panels, separated by richly gibled scroll work in the style of Louis XIV. The seroll work is bordered by a beautiful frill moulding, and runs along the top as well as the bottom of the Chariot. The seat of the Charioteer is covered with a rich hammercloth of purple velvet trimmed with deep silver fringe, pendant from a border of blue and yellow yelvet, the whole decorated with eagles, profits for seven years, of the following real estate, to wit: equestrian figures, stars, and flowers, wrought in gold and silver. The charioteer appears borne along between the expanded wings of two mighty dragons, apparently of massive gold, which couch | thence south sixty-seven and a half feet, thence east one hundred above the forewheels of the Charlot.

The Performance, &c. A very brief description of the names and positions of these nonpareils of professional skill, may be needful to the public, who wish to understand their proper standing and pretensions. The Equastrian Manager, to whom is entrusted the arrange ment and order of the scenes, acts, professional pageants and general Cavalcade, is of the highest celebrity as a superior two and four horse rider. This gentleman's style is manly, energetic, and masterly. In his scenes of Centum and Infant Achilles, he is assisted by FRANK PASTOR.

a most interesting and highly gifted child. This Infant Artist will appear on his flying courser in an act entitled Nimrod Junior, in which he will justify the remarks of the press, that for grace, beauty, and courage, he is the most wonderful child in the world. This miniature promizy will, with his yet younger and smaller BROTHER WILLIAM, be introduced by his instructor, J. J. NATHANS, in a series of personal gymnastics. YOUTHFUL RICHARD RIVERS,

Whose professional path has heerally been strewn with garlands, medals, and tokens of approbation, stands confessedly forth as a model of excellence in the foremost class of Equestrianism. Mr. R. GARDNER will, in the course of the performance, sing several M. MALLORY Will appear as the Mezzo, or Second Clown to the Circle.

II. SIGNOR GERMANI.

The great rider of Italy; whose horse gallops a different course from any other in the ring, will after his own singular school, ap pear in an equestrian act, representing the HINDOO MIRACLES Of an East Indian Juggler, attired in the exact costume and caste of his tribe, with an Ordery of Golden Globes and Sacred Daggers, the Sacred Vase of Destiny and fated bullet. A very novel and most agreeable episode will be introduced with the two LEARNED DOGS of Signor Germani. They can comprehend and perform a variety of feats and tricks, too extraordinary to be believed unless witnessed. They may truly be pronounced the greatest wonders of the ag-WASHINGTON CHAMBERS, Will, for the first time in this country, ride and enact the heatiful personation of the Benguin of Mexico, General Taylor, Jaikes, a Ynnkee Volunteer, Santa Anna, and the Genius of Freedom, bearing on its flag the memorable resolve of "We never surrender." JAMES HAWKINS,

A very celebrated Equestrian in Roman and Grecian characters, especially in the double scene of the Two Gladiators of Cæsar, acted and rode with J. J. Nathans. MR E. WOOD, Will give his terrific act of the Wild Indian of the Prairie, in which he will introduce those astonishing leats of equestrianism so peculiar to these tribes, and of which travellers give such wonderful and most incredible accounts GEORGE DUNBAR. His scene of Personal Position is of the most finished and wonderful class. His skill in Equilibrium and Power of Balance exceeds all Professors who have gone before him. MR. FRANK BROWER, Is the Merryman Buflo of the Equestrian Arena Entertainments. MR. N. JOHNSON, RING MASTER, Of the Equestrina Scenes. His Orical Pageants and Grand Cavalcades are relieved by COMIC CONCERTS, for which the following eminent Vocal and Instrumental performers have been engaged, and whose corre t delineations of character give life to their Ethiopian extravagunzas : THREE PRIZE DARKIES, NIEL JAMIESON, the Banjoist, F. BROWER, the Bone Castinets, and M.
